

A special bond I made was four years ago when I was at Fun City. I came with my cousin and his mom. We were making plates. When we finished we got five dollars each and I was playing a 2 player game and all the sudden a blue crosshair appeared on the screen left to mine. We beat that game and the next and the next we beat all the 2 player games. He gave me his phone number I gave him mine and when I got home I called him and asked him what school he went to and he said Gaur Lake elementary and I told him that's my school and I asked him what grade he was in he said third that's my grade. "I stated" he asked me what my teacher was and I said Miss. Bertino he said that's my teacher we were in the same class so we could be friends. In two weeks open house came my mom and dad met his mom and dad I went over to his house and he came over to my house when my mom came to pick me up. He was the best me would do anything to help he wouldn't get mad he was funny he would trust you he would share he would be so nice, but his brother got in a car wreck and they had to move to Houston closer to his doctor. So one of the bestest and nicest persons ever moved. He was my best friend. He was Hunter Wright.
